

— 1 — THE CAGES

54 MILLION

hens live their entire lives inside battery cages in Thailand.

— 2 — THE SPACE

620 CM²

One sheet of A4 paper. A battery hen spends her whole life in less space than this — never able to stretch a single wing.

— 3 — THE EGGS

43 MILLION

eggs are laid in Thailand every day — over 15 billion a year. Most come from hens who never leave a cage, and end up on supermarket shelves.

— 4 — THE SUPERMARKETS

9 OF 14

of Thailand's biggest supermarket chains have no cage-free policy at all. Only 5 have committed to stop selling battery-cage eggs.

Among those with zero policy: 7-Eleven, Big C, Villa Market and Foodland. Supermarkets decide which farms get built — their silence keeps millions of hens behind bars.

→ Follow ALA & ask your supermarket to go cage-free

